PLANT DETAILS

Anisacanthus quadrifidus v. wrightii

FLAME HONEYSUCKLE, FLAME ACANTHUS

Blooming hummingbird delights! Orange tubular to red colored flowers appear in summer and last until fall. Adaptable, drought tolerant once established. Plants are fast growing with bright green leaves on woody upright stems. These heat loving plants offer more lush appearance than other SW native shrubs. They can grow 4 to 5 ft. high and wide, but are easily kept shorter if needed. They will adapt to mesic or desert landscapes equally well. They blend well with Yucca species, Agaves, misc. cacti and other native accent plants like ocotillos. Or pair them with other gray leafed shrubs, groundcovers or with mixed desert perennials.
