PLANT DETAILS

Bougainvillea hybrid 'Torch Glow'

TORCH GLOW BOUGAINVILLEA

Upright summer color. An erect growing variety needing no support. Without shearing, each stem forms a dense conical upright shape with dark magenta bracts held tight within the upper section of each branch giving its namesake "torch" appearance. When sheared, plants form a dense amalgamated form. If pruned often they will display less color. Like other Bougainvillea they are tolerant of high heat and periods of drought, although regular spring and summer watering allows for better blooming. These plants do well as foundational shrubs, accent color or grown in large pots for patios or focal points.
