Chrysactinia Mexicana

DAMIANITA

Bright yellow blooms above aromatic leaves. These semi-evergreen subshrubs form mounds of woody stems with short dark green needle-like leaves that emit a strong but pleasant herbily scent when crushed. Spring temperatures bring masses of bright yellow star-shaped blooms that cover the entire mass of plants. Damianita are tough little shrubs that are as happy in a mixed perennial bed as they are living on dry, rocky slopes. Moderate to low water use, maintenance is limited to periodic thinning, or light shearing to keep plants flushed with bright new foliage.
