Eremophila hygrophana

ARIZONA BLUE BELLS, BLUE BELLS, OR BLUE
EMU BUSH

Tough silver-gray shrubs with big blue blooms. Semi-woody perennial small to medium sized shrubs for lower deserts and coastal landscapes. Like other silver or gray leaved xeric shrubs, these Blue Bells require well-drained soil and will not tolerate wet roots. They are slow to moderate growers, so be patient for their development. Once mature, they can tolerate infrequent, well-timed waterings to stay healthy and happy. Big blue to lavender flowers can appear throughout the year. This plant pairs very well with green succulent accent plants like large Agaves or columnar cacti.
