'Irene'

'IRENE' LANTANA

Dark pink with yellow colored round blooms against dark green foliage. 'Irene' is a compact growing, well-behaved, multi-colored Lantana selection. Lantanas are subtropical woody perennial flowering plants. Pollinated flowers can produce dark purple fruits prized by birds. Flowers are highly attractive to all Lepidoptera sp. Plants have compact growth with oval to round, rough dark green leaves and slightly prickly stems. After flowering plants can be lightly pruned or sheared for size control, but choosing the right sized cultivar for the space is important to help reduce how frequently the Lantana's need to be trimmed. Cutting them back too frequently can eliminate flower displays. Regular, supplemental water during the hottest months keeps them healthy and happy.
