

Lantana montevidensis

PURPLE TRAILING LANTANA

Lavender blooms on woody groundcover. These woody perennial long-blooming plants are as easy as they come. Low maintenance, durable, adaptable with dark green rough leaves that grow on low growing woody stems. With extra water plants are aggressive. Give them time and space to fill out. Good for erosion control, slopes, terraced beds, large containers, spilling over walls, and as low foundation shrubs. In spring to early summer copious amounts of round lavender blooms cover the plant. Plants pruned often to limit their size will start growing more upright and less flat.
