Nerium oleander 'Dwarf Red'

'DWARF RED' OLEANDER

Well-behaved, floriferous evergreen shrub. This is one of the most popular dwarf oleander selections, for good reasons. The leaves are a bit shorter, and darker green than most, with complementary dark crimson flowers that appear in large clusters. They will grow slow but steadily to reach a manageable but versatile height and width of about 5 ft. Heaviest flower display is in mid-spring, with potential to pop out flowers almost anytime during the growing season. Remove pods as needed after flowering for tidier appearance. They will appreciate extra or regular watering during flowering, but they are extremely drought tolerant plants.
