Tecoma x 'Orange Jubilee'

'ORANGE JUBILEE'

Large panicles of big orange flowers on evergreen shrubs. This is a large, rapidly growing shrub with an upright habit. Bright green serrated leaves on light colored stems can grow up to 10 ft. tall, but can be pruned for a more manageable size. If allowed to grow, they are easily trained into small, multi-trunked tree shapes or they can be trained as espaliers on a fence or trellis. Since the flowers are sterile they bloom nearly all year long, and are only halted by cool temperatures during winter months, when they can also drop some foliage. This is the best time to cut them back if necessary. Moderate, regular watering for the first season or two will help them get established, then regular summer irrigation to keep them growing and blooming well. They can be used for informal privacy screens, flowering hedges, or solitary accent plants. We offer 'Orange Jubilee' in bush form, staked or as trellised espalier.
