PLANT DETAILS

Teucrium chamaedrys 'Prostratum'

TRAILING GERMANDER, WALL GERMANDER

Tough, broadleaf evergreen groundcover. These dark green herbaceous plants thrive in average to poor, rocky soils, which is perfect for our western landscapes. They are cold and heat tolerant making them adaptable to many climate zones. They form a rounded mound with woody stemmed base. The spring to summer flowers is lavender to white in color and the foliage has an attractive herbal scent. Shearing these plants back after blooming helps to keep the short and grow wider. Moderate regular water during summers in low deserts is recommended.
