Agave Pygmaea

DRAGON TOES AGAVE

This charming dwarf Agave was originally produced from tissue culture in California. Its lovely coloring and compact, symmetrical form make it highly desirable. Thick chunky leaves are soft blue/grey with orange/red marginal teeth and dark red terminal spines. Each leaf will show a distinctly patterned imprint, giving even more visual drama to this specimen. Growing equally well in full sun to part shade, this dwarf blue agave is great for small gardens or container gardens. Plant in well-draining soil and water occasionally once established. In times of drought, water regularly. Enjoy the mystical presence of 'Dragon Toes' in a succulent garden where the sharp spines are out of reach from people and pets.
